—An alarm of fire was given Thursday afternoon which was found to be on the roof of the restaurant and residence of Richard White, colored. It was extinguished with but little damage to the roof. It was thought at one time that it would be a serious fire as the buildings surrounding it are of frame.

—Mr. Wm. Layson received a telegram Thursday announcing the death of Miss Grace Miller, of St. Louis, Mo., at San Antonio, Texas, where she had undergone an operation for appendicitis. Burial Sunday afternoon from her home, in St. Louis cemetery. Miss Miller was a granddaughter of the late John Clark Miller, who formerly resided here, and was one of the prominent men of Central Kentucky. Her father was drowned about two years ago while out with a fishing party in Minnesota. She has a large number of relatives and friends here.

—For those that have learned that the annual formal reception of the Seniors and the Juniors of M. F. C. is a leading event of Millersburg's social life, the brilliant reception given Friday evening was no disappointment. There are thirty-five seniors and juniors this year—an unusually large number. With all these charming young ladies as hostesses, the three hundred guests present were allowed to have no dull moments. The college home has never looked more attractive.

Red and green was the color schemes used in the parlor decorations. The dining room was decorated in smilax and red carnations, and lighted by red-shaded candles. Here was served a dainty lunch of pepper sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, fruit salad, and pineapple sherbert. A favorite resort was the long corridor decorated with many college pennants and pillows. The Lexington Opera House Orchestra furnished delightful music for the occasion.

The guests from out of town were Mr. Robert G. Stephens, of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Elizabeth Martin, of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Miss Scobee, Messrs. Fitch, Graham, Johns, Day and Emmons, of Winchester; Messrs. Harrison and Leach, Messrs. Campbell, Scott, Baker, Crockett and Miles, of Lexington; Messrs. Saunders, Weller, Taylor, T. Y. Williams, J. STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES.

—Statistics were quoted at the sheep breeders' meeting at Frankfort showing that the number of sheep in Kentucky has increased from 600,000 to 1,070,000 since the dog law went into effect.

—At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Montgomery County Fair Association it was decided to hold the second annual county fair on Tuesday, July 19, and continue for five days. The fair grounds will be improved and many conveniences added.

—Perhaps the highest price ever realized on two hogs fattened for market in Fayette county was paid Saturday, when Ed Pinrod, a farmer residing on the Richmond pike, sold two fine specimens to Deputy Sheriff Chas. L. McKenna for $107. The hogs weighed 1070 pounds and the price paid was ten cents per pound.

—The racing interests of Canada have lost their case before the special committee of Parliament at Ottawa, Canada, which has been dealing with the Miller track anti-gambling bill. By a vote of 5 to 7 the committee decided to report the bill favorably, and if it passes the House this week and the Senate to which it goes later, there will be no more bookmaking on any race track in Canada.

—The Richmond Register says: "Courtday brought only a fair sized crowd to town Monday, but business was brisk. Auctioneer W. P. Prewitt reports that plug mules sold from $30 to $80, plug horses $15 to $95, good single mules $115 to $175. There were about 700 cattle at the Madison stock yards, which were disposed of at prices ranging from $1.2 to $1.2 cents."

—It has been suggested that the farmers test kernels of their seed corn before planting. Test each ear to make sure that it will germinate. It is stated on reliable information that a large percentage of last year's crop was damaged by the severe cold weather early in the winter and in order to avoid the possibility of having a short crop this year it is advisable to test your corn before you plant it this year.

Corset Ancient Armor.

A French historian of women's dress states that the corset was worn by the ancient Egyptians. This assertion is borne out by the figures carved on the tombs of women, who are invariably represented as wearing a garment strongly resembling the modern corset. There does not appear to be any representation extant of Cleopatra VI., the beloved of Antony, but in one of the temples there is a figure of her predecessor, Cleopatra II., in which the sculptor has endowed her with a corset cut on the lines of those worn today. Whalebone was probably unknown to the Egyptians, but a nation capable of constructing pyramids without steam cranes would probably find no difficulty in making stays without busks.—London Chronicle.

His Favorite Song.

There is a young optician in Denver who sings very well, says the Post of that city. The other night he was making a call on a couple of sisters up on Corona street when he was asked to sing.

"What shall it be?" he asked as he went to the piano.

"Your favorite song," said one of the girls.

"All right," he replied, and then the optician sat down and sang "The Night Hath a Thousand Eyes."
